////////////////////

Dr. Jean Vanier is the founder and director of L'ARCHE, a small community outside Paris where he and many others care for and live with people who have been socially "wounded" by their environment, their family backgrounds, their encounters with psychiatrists and other professionals.

For several years now, Loyola students have been working at L'ARCHE with Dr. Vanier during their summer holidays.

Dr. Vanier also has another community in southern France called LA MERCI near Bordeaux, one called DAYBREAK near Toronto and he has recently founded another community in India.
